

Accounting for Veterinary Surgeons

“To be successful as a vet you need a passion for animals and a friendly, helpful demeanour because pet owners will seek your counsel on everything from dog walking services to pet feeding options, day care and pet sitting. As such, you need to manage animals, people, staff, cashflow, inventory and stock of drugs and consumables.”

Melanie Robinson - Partner

Running a veterinary clinic is very demanding and stressful given you often have to work with traumatised pets and their distraught owners. Here at More Than Numbers we work with a range of veterinary clinics from general practices to specialised equine and dairy clinics. Some of our vets specialise in surgical services while other practices have a more retail flavour and carry stock of pet food and accessories.

Apart from providing assistance with the usual compliance issues of GST, BAS, PAYG and superannuation, we'll advise you on the most appropriate tax structure for your business and offer strategies to protect your assets and create wealth. We understand the importance of the right software to manage your bookkeeping, payroll and invoicing and we will take into account your business needs (bookkeeping, payroll, invoicing etc.) and level of accounting skill when recommending the most appropriate software program. Where required we will train you or your staff to use the software because we find many veterinary surgeons make the mistake of buying sophisticated 'double entry' accounting programs that are beyond their business needs and level of accounting skill. This often leads to 'computerised shoebox' records and unnecessary accounting costs.

Our client brief also includes helping you grow your personal wealth and our financial planning services can help you with tax effective strategies including negative gearing of property and the establishment and management of your own self managed super fund. While tax returns and Business Activity Statements are important, it is our services beyond compliance that distinguish us from other accounting firms. Our marketing skills and industry knowledge can give you a serious competitive edge.
